14-Nov-88	Lyon County	Shantelle Hudson	The victim disappeared after attending school in Dayton, but witnesses claim she was seen at the Dayton Street Dance two days after she left home. Her mother did not approve of the friends that she was hanging around with causing disagreements. The mother was again interviewed in 2009, in Redding, California, where a DNA sample was taken. The Nevada Threat Analysis Center has run the victim's social security number through numerous databases with no results. The victim has never contacted relatives, which is deemed unusual - leading to the probability that the victim is deceased. A possible match found by a murder victim in Phoenix, Arizona is being compared to Hudson's mother's DNA. Lyon County Officials theorize that the victim may have met with foul play at the street dance.
